LOCATION.

REINHARDT COLLEGE is located in the village of Waleska, Cherokee County, Georgia. Its nearest railroad station is Canton, Georgia, on the Blue Ridge Division of the L. & N. Railroad. An excellent highway connects the two points over which an automobile can easily travel in thirty minutes. Double daily mail and hack service and Bell telephone connect the college with Canton. Special arrangement for carriage and automobile transportation can be made at any time. All freight and express shipments should be addressed in care of Reinhardt College, Canton, Georgia.

THE VILLAGE OF WALESKA.

Waleska is a typical rural village with a population of about two hundred people. The college grounds occupy the one side of the main highway at the center with the post office, two stores, blacksmith shop, and grist mill on the other. Captain Reinhardt, is at present mayor of the village, members of the board of the trustees and of the village government are consistent with the principles for which the college stands.

The life and spirit of Waleska center in the college and its interests. Many families move to the village for the college year and find it a congenial and economical home as well as a desirable place to educate their children of all ages as high as the college classes extend. A number of houses are available for this purpose and persons interested will do well to correspond with the president.

HISTORICAL SKETCH.

The beginning of our present Institution was first planned by Col. J. A. Sharp and Capt. A. M. Reinhardt in 1883. The North Georgia Conference held their annual meeting at Dalton and wisely adopted the school, and ever since that time it has been fostered through the generosity of the Methodist people, both rich and poor. The school made, the first eighteen years, an average enrollment of 200, during the past fourteen years it has made an average enrollment of 300. Last year's enrollment was 309. Several thousand students have been directly taught and tens of thousand indirectly, since ninety per cent of our graduates have spent the first years teaching.

At the annual meeting of the Trustees in 1915 the board adopted resolutions for raising the standards of the school to that of a JUNIOR COLLEGE under the classification and requirements of the Board of Education of the Methodist Episcopal Church South. This marks a new era in the usefullness of the institution and the school enters upon its thirty-third year with the brightest of prospects.

NATURAL SURROUNDINGS.

The surroundings of the college are beautiful and the location gives it a climate that is conductive to vigor and healthfulness.

The air has those invigorating and health promoting qualities that mountains alone can give and students from homes situated nearer the coast almost invariably make rapid increase in weight.

COMMUNITY INTERESTS.

It is the policy of the college and those connected with it to foster and encourage the social life of the community in every possible way. The permanent residents of the village as well as those who make this their home during the college sessions are urged to cooperate with these organizations for the benefits they can both give and receive.

WOMAN'S MISSIONARY SOCIETY.

The women of the village are organized under this designation for the study of the course prescribed by the Board of Missions of the Methodist church. The problems of both the Home and Foreign field are discussed and the society serves also as a Parent-Teacher Club where the situations arising out of the relations of home and school are talked over with much helpfulness.

CITIZENS' PRAYER MEETING.

Apart from the prayer meetings by the student body, the older members of the community meet each week under the direction of the pastor. These gatherings are held at the homes of the various citizens, in the college building or at the parsonage as the circumstances determine.

LODGES.

Strong and active subordinate lodges of Masons and Oddfellows hold regular meetings in Waleska. All the male members of the fauclty belong to one or the other of these organizations and visiting brethern will always find a warm fraternal spirit among the members of the community.

PUBLIC GATHERINGS

The college auditorium is the largest assembly hall in the county and is always open for the accomodation of conventions and gatherings that foster and promote the social, educational and religious welfare of the people.

FARMERS' CLUB.

During the past year the farmers of the community have met under the direction of the science department of the college for the discussion of the problems of Agriculture. Standard books, government bulletins and other literature are available in abundance to supplement the personal experience of those present and many helpful ideas have been worked out.

SCHOLARSRIP

Every member of the faculty is a devout student of the Man of Galilee. The motto is for each to be so strong that devils will fear and tremble, so wise as to give most thorough work, so loving as to inspire the greatest confidence. Look for our graduates in higher colleges and universities. You will find the Reinhardt boy and girl ably holding in head and heart the highest esteem of teachers and students.

GROUNDS AND BUILDINGS .

The college grounds consist of one hundred and twenty-five acres, thirty-five acres of which make up the campus surrounding the various buildings. A few acres have been cleared for producing college supplies and the remainder is occupied with standing timber. The buildings are surrounded with large oaks and other shade trees giving the place an unusual natural beauty.

The Administration Building is a building of modern construction, 66 x 116 feet, divided into eleven large lecture and recitation rooms, office, library, and music room. The entire upper floor is thrown into an immense auditorium with a seating capacity of fifteen hundred persons, and a stage provided with complete equipment for amateur plays. This room is used as a college chapel, the church of the community, and for all assemblies for religious and other purposes. The lecture and recitation rooms are equipped with the latest models of pressed steel sanitary seating. The light ratio of the entire building is one square foot of window area to five square feet of floor space. Fresh warm air from a furnace is delivered under pressure to the various rooms insuring a complete change of the atmosphere every thirty minutes.

JOHN W. HEIDT HALL was erected by the WOMAN'S HOME MISSION SOCIETY, supplemented with funds from Atlanta Methodists. It will accommodate forty young ladies and is equipped with bath rooms and modern sanitary arrangements.

HARRIET HAWKES HALL is the gift of Mr. A. K. Hawkes, of Atlanta. It supplies comfortable rooms for fifty young men and a complete water and sewerage system is being installed.

CHEROKEE HALL gets its name from the county that supplied th efunds for its erection. It has large rooms and study halls in which twenty young men can be easily accommodated.

The dormitories are furnished with tables, bedsteads springs and mattresses, the students being required to furnish all other necessary articles.

The PAYNE MEMORIAL COTTAGE was built in 1910, with funds furnished by Mr. R. L. Craycroft and his Sunday School class, of the First Methodist Church, Atlanta. This cottage has been continuously occupied since its completion by students and families sending their children to the college. The Cottage has recently been enlarged and improved and is rend ering a valuable service to the institution.

IMPROVEMENTS.

During the past year a dynamo has been installed in the main college building through the generosity of Miss Maud Jones. Temporary lighting arrangements were made for the commencement season and a permanent plant is planned that will furnish light for the entire village as well as the college. Other improvements are projected. The campus will be graded, the buildings repaired and painted, and water and sewerage connections with the boys dormitory are expected to be made before the opening of the Fall Term.

LAUNDRY.

As the catalogue goes to the printers all arrangements seem complete for installing a modern laundry equipment to meet the needs of the village and the school.

DISCIPLINE.

The spirit of the association in the domitories is as home-like as college life can be made. Each building is in charge of a member of the faculty, but self discipline is practiced as far as possible. Students are responsible for the care of their rooms and adjacent hall-ways. Regular hours are observed for study, meals and recitation.

DINING HALL.

All students living in the dormitories and a number rooming in other places, together with some of the members of the faculty, take their meals in the Central Dining Hall in connection with Heidt Hall.

Under Supervision of Mrs. Sharp. This arrangement has proven to be one of the most pleasing features of the college. The kitchen is unusually well equipped and special attention is given to supplying the diet that is most conductive to the physical and mental efficiency of college life. The best of health prevails as the result of this policy. The college produces its own supplies as far as possible and both Northern and Southern markets are patronized to obtain the best that the rate of charge will permit.

Parents are urged not to send boxes of delicacies to students or to allow them to purchase the same as much illness and loss of time from class work has resulted from these practices. Any special attention to the diet of individuals is given when needed but this is found soon to be unnecessary when proper rules of health are observed.

RELIGIOUS INFLUENCES.

The founders of Reinhardt College were anxious to give the youth of the mountain section the best educational advantages, but they did not consider that they had done this until they had made the knowledge of Christ the goal. The spirit of the fathers is still the spirit of the sons. "That we may present every man perfect in Christ"is inscribed on the cornerstone of the main building and in the hearts of the faculty and trustees.

REVIVAL SERVICES.

Revival services are held twice each year. There is no desire to proselyte—only that all may know Christ. A splendid revival this spring resulted in possibly more than one hundred conversions and reclamations. About one hundred have offered themselves for any kind of service to which God may see fit to call them.

CHURCH SERVICES AND SUNDAY SCHOOL.

Students are required to attend preaching every Sunday morning and the devotional exercises held every morning in the college chapel. We strive to have a model Sunday School and all are required to attend.

This is the great work of the church. We try to prepare our students to be efficient Sunday School workers when they leave the institution. There are teachers training classes and each year diplomas are awarded to those who have completed the course of study.

CHRISTIAN WORKERS' CLASS.

This class is composed of those young men who feel called to preach and others who are anxious to fit themselves to be workmen "that need not be ashamed" in the Church of God. Every year there are some in the class who accept the call to preach and all have an enlarged vision of Christian service. Books are studied that develop the inner life and bring forcibly to the mind and heart of the student the needs of the Master's Kingdom.

MISSIONARY SOCIETIES.

The religious activities of the young women of the college and community are carried on under the direction of the Womens' Missionary Society of the North Georgia Conference. To adapt the work to the different ages, Junior and Senior, two classes have been arranged. Little more than organization has been effected during the past year but all plans are completed for some excellent work during the coming session.

SUNRISE PRAYER MEETING.

On Sundays a Sun Rise Prayer Meeting is held in the chapel. This is a mighty power for good for those who attend and no doubt causes a strong uplifting influence throughout the student body.

SPECIAL RELIGIOUS ADVANTAGES.

All during the scholastic year we are visited by leading men in the church who bring great messages to the student body, giving a vision of the larger life and calling for volunteers to Christian service.

RULES AND REGULATIONS.

1. No student will be admitted who has been expelled or suspended from any other institution or until he has furnished satisfactory testimonials as to good moral character, has paid all college charges, and voluntarily subscribed to the rules in the matriculation book.

2. Students are forbidden during college hours to visit each others' rooms, boarding houses, or residences; to visit any store; to congregate in the halls of the college or to be noisy or boisterous.

3. Men are not allowed to visit women of the college and community or to act as their escorts; and women are not allowed to receive visits from men of the college or community or to accept them as escorts.

4. All students are required to live in the college dormitories except where special permission is granted by the president.

5. All students boarding or residing in or near Waleska must attend Sunday School every Sunday and church services every Sunday morning at whatever church they or their parents may choose.

6. Any student who behaves improperly in any recitation room may be dismissed from it by the teacher and the case reported to the president.

7. No student will be allowed to remain in school who smokes cigarettes and no smoking is allowed in public.

8. Any person who defaces or injures the college building or any of its property will be held responsible for the damage done.

9. Students are prohibited from playing cards or being in company where cards are being played; from keeping firearms or deadly weapons, and from associating with any persons of known or suspected bad character.

10. The reading of pernicious literature, the use of intoxicating drinks, the indulgence in profane language are considered grave offenses and will be dealt with accordingly.

11. All combinations of two or more students to neglect duty, violate the laws, to oppose authority will bring suitable punishment upon the offenders.

12. No student will be allowed to be absent from Waleska without permission from the president.

13. When a student by general neglect of the college requirements shows a disposition to shirk duty, and manifests a spirit of insubordination, or from habitual idleness or repeated absence and inattention to duty, fails to make a fair standing in his class the president shall cause these facts to be known to the parents with the request that the sudent be withdrawn from the college.

14. No student shall remain in college who will not take studies enough to occupy all of his time.

15. No student will be allowed to open store accounts without written permission from the parents and the approval of the president.

16. The sale of soft drinks is forbidden in Waleska. Any student having them brought to Waleska will be subject to expulsion.

17. These laws apply to students in all departments of Reinhardt College and students will be answerable to them during visits away from the institution so long as they are enrolled.

LIBRARY.

A. T. HIND, Librarian.

The college library is not large, but is well arranged, and contains a great deal of material useful to the student for reference and collateral reading. None but helpful books are allowed on the shelves.

Arrangements have been made whereby the library will be open to the student during the entire school session each day, and a reading room will be conducted in connection with it, where will be kept on the tables several newspapers and many of the standard magazines.

Efforts are being made to enlarge the library and any donations of books or money to purchase them will be appreciated.

STUDENT ORGANIZATIONS AND ENTERPRISES.

The value of school life comes not merely from pursuing a course of study. The activities of student life that lead to the right conduct of the individual when a member of a group is after all the most essential part of an education. REINHARDT'S student organizations have been sending young people out to win a place in the world of busy men and women and as the institution advances to higher standard the importance of these interests will be emphasized and their number increased.

LITERARY SOCIETIES

There are four excellent and active literary societies connected with the college, the HAYGOOD and the PIERCE for young men and the PHI ALPHA and the PHI DELTA for young women. These societies give an invaluable training in parliamentary practice and public speaking. The mock trial and inter-society debates are among the great social events of the college year, and students who go from this school win high places in the corresponding work of higher institutions. The work of these are regarded as most valuable aids to the educational and social aims of the college.

Inter-Collegiate Prohibition Association.

A local chapter of this organization, affiliated with the state and national associations, has received the hearty cooperation of a large number of students for two years past.

Each year the chapter makes a study of some phase of the liquor problem. This class is conducted by a member of the faculty. The school has been represented in both state contests and this year our representative won fourth prize.

DRAMATIC CLUB.

This will be composed of students in Expression and others whose work in English display the needed qualifications. As early in the year as possible it will undertake to present the dramatization of some standard work of literature. The annual play which forms such a popular part of the commencement program will be given hereafter under the auspices of the Dramatic Club. All officers of this club must be members of the Faculty.

ATHLETIC ASSOCIATION.

A very enthusiastic Association o fmembers of the battalion and of the faculty has the athletics of the college in charge. Only those who are regular in their academic and military enrollment are allowed to belong as the organization has committed itself to the policy of excluding those who do not maintain the required standards in class and cadet duty from participating in any kind of games.

MUSIC AND EXPRESSION.

The work of this department has proven to be one of the most pleasing and helpful phases of the work of the school. Music enters as an essential part into all the religious and recreational exercises of the college and no one need leave the institution without a knowledge and appreciation of this most cosmopolitan of the arts. In church and chapel the best of songs and hymns are used and special atteneion is given to the correct singing of the old and standard compositions. The teaching in all lines is of high order and music students will find this an ideal spot to acquire proficiency in any of the following branches of study.

PIANO.

The work of the college in giving instruction on this instrument has been most successful. The instruction is entirely personal and individual, the studies being in every case adapted to the age and the needs of the pupil. A thorough command of the fundamentals is insisted upon and sufficient theoretical work is required to make the practice intelligent at every step. Sufficient pianos are provided for practice and the annual recitals and various public events give the students ample experience in performing in the presence of an audience.

VOICE.

A thorough and systematic course in training and culture of the voice is introduced this session for the first time. Vocal music is such an essential part of the life of the home, school, church, and community that no one possessed of the smallest degree of talent should fail to cultivate it to its fullest extent. Classes in sight singing will be organized for the young ladies and the young men.

MUSIC CLUB.

All the students of the Music Department will be organized hereafter into a club for promoting the musical interests of the college. Special assistance will be given at church and Sunday School Services and recitals and entertainments will be given during the year. During Commencement season a comic musical opera will be rendered.

BAND AND ORCHESTRA.

The department has been partially successful in its efforts to maintain a college orchestra and during the coming year expects to succeed even better in starting a band. This will be used in connection with the military work and will be under the discipline of that department. Already a number of players are assured and prospective students who play or are learning to play either band or orchestra instruments will find a congenial association in these organizations.

VIOLIN.

Violin playing is taught as one would learn to command the living voice rather than as a dead technical grind. Songs and familiar pieces are acquired from the first, although a ground work is laid for advanced playing with the studies of Hohman and Sevciek.

CHORUS PRACTICE.

All the students who wish to sing are organized into a chorus choir for rendering special music at religious services. These persons will receive systematic instruction in sight singing without charge. Selections of the best class of secular music will be taken up in addition to the anthems used in public worship.

ANNUAL COMMENCEMENT

The largest and most important social feature of the college and community life for the year is the annual commencement season. Special programs are prepared with great care which reflect the work of the school and attract the general public to the institution as well as former students and other friends. Contests in declamations, essays and orations, a debate between the literary societies for young men, a prize drill by the military department, the annual play, sermons and addresses by the best of talent, make up the order of events. All this is interspersed with music of available kinds. Hundreds of people from the surrounding country and many from a distance of many miles join in making this occasion a season of pleasure and uplift.

A JUNIOR COLLEGE.

A JUNIOR COLLEGE is an institution that prepares its students to enter the Junior class of a standard college. These have been organized in many parts of the United States and are one of the significent educational developments of the times. Some institutions formerly granting degrees have increased their usefulness by accepting this classification while others have extended their courses upward to include the first two years of regular college work. REINHARDT belongs in the latter class and a new course of study has been prepared for the coming year that will lead as rapidly as possible to the higher standard.

ARRANGEMENT OF COURSE OF STUDY.

All grades are offered by the college from the first year of Primary work through the sophomore year of a standard college. The first seven grades follow the requirements of the state common school course of study. The lowest classes are in charge of a competent primary teacher and the grammar grades are conducted on the departmental plan. To enter the academic classes the pupil must satisfy the college that he has a thorough elementary education for much inconvenience and disappointment results from lack of preparation at this point.

The academic course is essentially the same as that recommended by the state for secondary or high schools. It provides for the fourteen units demanded by the standard colleges for entrance and all applicants for our college classes must offer the same work or its equivalent. In the two years of college work the student will cover the thirty college "hours" required in the Freshman and Sophomore classes of the standard college. All recitations at Reinhardt College are forty minutes in length.

ENGLISH LANGUAGE AND LITERATURE.

The requirements in English are that every student acquire a correct and clear command of the language both written and spoken, and be able to read both silently and aloud with accuracy, intelligence, and appreciation. To this end stress is laid upon the fundamentals and no one deficient in penmanship, grammar, spelling, and oral reading can expect to receive the certificate of our academic department. In the college classes emphasis will be placed upon original composition and public speaking.

Academic Department.

Course II. Biology. Hunter's "Essentials of Biology," Sharpe's "Laboratory Manual." Excursions, laboratory work, and note book.

Course III. Agriculture. Hunt and Burkett's "Soils and Crops" and "Farm Animals". Illustrated lectures, laboratory and field work, and note book.

As religious and educational activities are dependent upon financial support so a moral and an intelligent people must be a prosperous one. Since economy in the management of the home and skill in persuading the soil to bring forth its fruits are the basis of wealth we ask that all of our students of the academic course give one period a week to the study of these things. The courses are arranged so as to work no hardship.

HISTORY.

Course I. England—Montgomery's Leading Facts of English History. This course deals with the history of England from the earliest to the present.

Course II. American—Ashley's American History. This course brings out the facts of American history from the discovery, and gives a fair amount of the development of the social, political, and economic institutions. The relation of geography to history is dealt with throughout the course.

Course III. The Ancient World—Myer's Ancient History; Collateral reading. The beginnings rise, decline, and fall of the oriental nations, of Greece and of Rome are followed up in this course, with assigned readings on important topics and periods.

Course IV. Western Europe—Robinson's History of Western Europe; Collateral reading. This course begins where Course III leaves off, at hr fall of Rome and the setting up of the barbarian kingdoms. It follows up the progress of the nations of Western Europe, dealing with the religious, educational and political development to the present time.

Course V. This course will be arranged for year 1915 1916.

Texts: The Teacher and the School, Colgrove; Practical Pedagogy, Barrett; Manual for Georgia Teachers.

To be read and discussed: Nature Study and Life; Hodge.

This course covers the work required in the examinations. It is designed for those young people who want to know what to teach, how to teach, the teacher, and the pupil.

Course II. This course will be arranged later.

LOAN FUNDS.

W. S. Witham's Ten Thousand Dollar Loan Fund For Girls.

"As one lamp lights another nor grows less, so nobleness enkindleth nobleness." A band of girls are daily under the help of this fund, catching inspiration of the broader life. One deaconess, two Reinhardt teachers, numbers of teachers at other places, home missionaries, Sunday school workers, and home makers have been recipients of this fund. Every girl living near Waleska who has health, brains and energy has in this an open door of hope.

One winter on hearing of this fund in the school a mountain girl packed her trunk and with her sister drove forty miles, reaching Waleska on a cold day with only twenty-five cents. She stood at the head of her class and is still in the town making a splendid record. This fund has been in operation for several years and has helped many girls toward getting an education.

HEMPHILL FUND

In its efforts to pant God's kingdom this institution has found no nobler souls or truer friends than the Hemphills. W. A. Hemphill invested $1,500, and the interest for twelve years of this fund has been loaned to girls. The fund has doubled and forty-two girls have been directly benefited, and hundreds are indirectly influenced by its proceeds as these go out with a purpose to work out their own salvation with fear and trembling.

"Great men are those who see that thoughts rule the world."

"All the beautiful sentiments in the world weigh less than a single lovely action."

FIELD FUND.

Through the use of this fund boys have gone forth from this institution better equipped for life. They are found in all professions. Mr. Earl E. Field has reason to be proud of the good it has done. This fund has been invested in boys and each year it is collected and reloaned. The principal and interest are in men, not in lands.

GENERAL EXPENSES.

Economy.

While mere cheapness is in itself no recommendation for things educational there are conditions and circumstances that enable one school to render a service at less expense than other institutions that are differently situated. On the point of economy Reinhardt College has everything in its favor. It is located in a rural community of substantial and hard-working folks where money brings no social advantages and poverty no disgrace. Extravagance is condemned and the only distinction comes from sacrifice and hard work. The standards of the community all tend towards simplicity and the level of charges, prices and expenses in the village are comparatively low. Whether it is the individual student who boards at the college dormitory or the family that makes its home in the community the necessary expenditures are much less than can usually be found in places where such educational advantages are not found. All those connected with the college and the institution itself share in these advantages so the school is able t ooffer a high grade of service at a very low rate of tuition.

Fees.

Matriculation	$1.00

Books, both new and old, and other supplies are on sale at the college office. Cash must always be paid in advance.

Tuition and fees must be paid in advance by the term.

Board must be paid in advance by the month.

No deduction is made for tuition for the first two and last two weeks of the term.

No deduction is made for lost time except in the case of protracted illness.

UNIFORMS.

All students who are members of the battalion or of the college classes are required to wear uniforms on all occasions that the faculty directs. Parents should not regard these uniforms as an expense but rather as an economy. They are furnished to the students at actual cost and material will be secured that will wear better than ordinary clothing purchased at the same price. In addition to this the uniform promotes simplicity and good taste in dress and expresses the democracy the institution wishes to encourage.

For the cadets this consists of coat and trousers of Confederate gray and navy blue cap. A service uniform of khakiliggings and campaign hat is also required The uniform for the young ladies for winter wear will consist of a dark blue coat suit and plain white waiste of pique, and for fall and spring a plain white linen skirt with white lawn waist. These requirements except for very unusul reasons will be rigidly enforced. There must be no substitution of other articles or any attempt at evasion of these regulations. Measurements are taken immediately on the opening of school and students should come prepared to pay for the uniforms at that time.

MILITARY DEPARTMENT.

A. T. Hind, Commandant.

All male students strong enough to carry a rifle are required to drill. Military training gives mental as well as physical development. It gives self-control, rapidity and acuracy of thinking, and power of decision to mind. These, with Chistian training, gives th eperfect man as their product. We give military training under Christian influences to help in our great purpose of developing strong characters, of sending out strong men, able to cope with the things of life that are to be conquered.

Electric Light Plant.

Through the generosity of Miss Maud Jones the college has installed a light plant and will flood each room in dormitories with lights.

A forty-horse power boiler and twenty-horse power engine will furnish all power we need for lights, woodshop, laundry, etc.
